When One Door Closes...

In January 2009, during the economic “melt-down” that claimed so many corporate casualties, the company where we had worked for years closed its doors. Now, it should be said that Mark, Geoff, and David have each recognized for years that God promises to take care of them; He is not limited to doing it through one company. Still, it was a tough time to look for work.

As we considered our options, we realized that there were a lot of stranded customers who must be looking for options, too. Their RTF door company was gone. Some had jobs quoted, some had work in progress, but they all had lost a supplier. And most shops can't just go out and buy a 3-D laminating press, CNC routers and tooling, and take the time to figure out what to do with all of them. In short, we saw an opportunity to combine our skills and resources, keep doing what we knew how to do well, and serve our friends in the housing and hospitality industries by providing quality thermofoil products at a fair price. Brushy Creek Custom Doors was born!

So even though our company is new, there are no novices here. Mark, Geoff and David have combined industry experience of over 50 years. Our production crew has an average of 10 years experience. Put all that working knowledge together with over 40 profiles and a selection of over 80 foils in solid colors, wood grains, and abstracts, and you've got an RTF supplier to help make your business successful “in the long haul.”

We are the team of Brushy Creek Custom Doors, and we are waiting to serve you!

DixieLam & Funder RTF Matches

Brushy Creek Custom Doors announces the addition of ten new Rigid Thermo Foil choices that match DixieLam and Funder melamines. The new RTF choices include nine wood grains and one solid color. All are available with a matching melamine back on the doors, drawer fronts, or accessories for an additional charge.

Recently, Dixie Plywood & Lumber Co. released a new category of melamine called the Series Seven. These melamines offer a special wood ticking that gives the appearance and feel of a real wood grain texture. Three of our new RTF wood grain matches also offer the special wood ticking: Autumn Walnut, Sienna Walnut, and Driftwood.

A complete listing of these new RTF options, along with matching information, can be downloaded from our website:
